DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE
Scientific and Technical Intelligence Committee

10 AUG 1982

MEMORANDUM FOR: Acting Director of Central Intelligence

THROUGH: Director of External Affairs

FROM:

Chairman, Scientific and Technical
Intelligence CommitteeSUBJECT: Senator Nunn's Participation in the International Productivity Symposium

1. Production technology is one of the four technologies highlighted in NIE 11-12-80 as critical for the coming decade. Production technology and productivity are the cornerstones for future high-technology weapons systems, military force structures, and economic competitiveness. This area is not well understood in the Intelligence Community.

2. In order to understand this area better, the STIC, in collaboration with Battelle Memorial Institute, will hold a seminar on international productivity November 17 and 18 at Battelle in Columbus, Ohio. The purpose of the seminar is to bring government attendees up-to-date on many issues including international developments and trends in productivity improvements. Key areas of discussion will be manufacturing processes (areas of emphasis and goals), motivations for advanced production technologies, and the impact of these new technologies on management structures, workers, capital investment, and output.

3. The STIC would like Senator Sam Nunn to keynote the symposium. We selected Senator Nunn because of his long standing interest in intelligence, productivity, and his support of production related export control legislation.

We, unfortunately, cannot pay his usual honorarium, but Battelle will pay all travel expenses for the keynote speaker. Battelle is also providing financial and administrative support for the seminar. Since this is an Intelligence Community function, the STIC requests that you invite Senator Nunn to be the keynote speaker. [REDACTED]
